Isn't it quite a slam on the Republi-cans of this city that none of them should have been consulted in the dis-position of the post-office matter.

CAPT. Billy Ahl is a good Republican and a faithful worker for his party. But it seems that he is not "in it" when it comes to the disposition of the pie.

Back in the seventies when we transported all of our products and merchandine by water and waited three days for the return of the post there was much growing and grumbling, and many dissatisfied people. To-day we go by lightning express, take long to get there. Sixty miles of railroad span the borders of our county, and there's scarcely a village of any note that its accommodations do not reach. A CLOVERPORT WOMAN.

What She Sees and Hears to Write About.

It is time for the pulpit and press to speak out against mob law and the loose and reckless administration of our State and city laws. Dr. Hemphill, of Louis-ville has preached a very powerful and beautiful sermon upon the the subject, and his example should be followed by the ministers every where, in order that every man, woman and child could hear every man, woman and child could hear every man, woman and child could hear every man, women and child could hear every man, women and child could be a chance to wipe the tears of shame from her eyes.

The Executive Mansion will now be gay and giddy, and socially we predict the Administration to excel that of any other, for in the Governor's charming circle are three bealiting zown daughters. Other Governors were not so fortunate in this respect, and, of course, this maturally secored to make their administrations less prominent and attractive than they would have been. However, its halls will resound with no merrice or happier music than the laughter of our dear Little Boliver, now retired. Long life to the bonny, bright-eyed lad!

Gov. Brown is the first to serve under the new Constitution. The old one last-ed forty years. Under it nine Governors were elected and served out their terms Of these, four survive—Buckner, Knott.

There is much to commend in these old-school Governors, living and dead, to arouse admiration for the time covered by their administration embraced the darkest period of Kentucky's and the nation's history.

Three cheets for our noble "country boy," Jack Gross, and we do hope he got his Pennyroyal bouquet. We could have furnished him one much cheaper from old Breckenridge. ...

There is a difference between a colored man and a "coon." The former is hon-est, industrious and respected by black and white. The latter is a worthless, lazy rased, who would rather steal than work, and doesn't care what people that of him. It is the "coons" who reflect discredit upon the colored people, and for the higher class of colored people in the town generally. Away with the "coons"
